made for her. It was plain enough I thought that they wish her to go first on Wednesday morning next — to Miss Mary Chapman's in Chauncy St. So I left her with the understanding that she is to go with Cousin Sam. May, day after — tomorrow morning, to the above named pleasant home.

Perhaps you will be able to call upon her there, in the course of Wednesday. —

And let me hint to you — that, if you invite her, I think she will be pleased to go to Newburyport with you to visit the Ashbys — and

My dear Friend

I left my excellent cousin's sweet home at Leicester this morning at 8¼ — and after the most dusty ride, I ever took, to Worcester — and a very, very hot ride thence to Concord, here I am at my dear sister's quiet but most delightful home —

I left Miss Estlin, a little embarrassed as to her future movements owing to misunderstanding of the arrangements for Boston friends. Isaac
